Phones should not be banned in schools.
First, they help learners research quickly.
Second, parents can reach their children.
In conclusion, teach good habits instead.